EXPERIENCE

Project Leader, Halderbach Partners

since July 2026, one review cycle earlier than the usual track

Senior Consultant, Halderbach Partners

October 2024 to June 2026; Consultant from October 2022, same employer

- The owner signed 11.2 million of the 18.4 million identified, in 14 weeks, with a team of 5 consultants. Group margin recovered 2.6 percentage points in the year after. The firm was asked back for a second mandate and Tobias was made project leader the following cycle. (plants 4; employees at the client 1,400; interviews he ran 38; annual cost identified 18.4 million; annual cost the owner signed 11.2 million; tiers he sorted the measures into 3; weeks on the programme 14; consultants on the team 5; margin recovery in the year after 2.6 percentage points; days he argued against dropping the apprentice measures 2)
- The client kept the mandate. His mid-year review came back 3 of 5, the only rating below 4 he has had, with the phrase ’does other people’s work’ in it. His colleague did not send him a draft again for 9 weeks. (hours he spent rewriting it 4; overstatement in his version 23 per cent; people in the steering committee 11; his mid-year review rating 3 of 5; weeks before his colleague sent him a draft again 9)
- The pack went out at 3.1 per cent with the caveat. The fund did not buy the business and did not come back to the firm for a year. The partner wrote in his staffing note that he is difficult about small things. Koerber disagreed with that in writing, which Tobias found out about a year later. (weeks of the due diligence 3; growth the fund wanted shown 6 per cent; growth his work supported 3.1 per cent; years of usable market data 4; operators he interviewed 14; days before the investment committee 2)
- He has had one due diligence since and no investing experience at all. He still calls that due diligence his deal experience when he talks about himself, which is the part of his own account he has not made honest yet. (weeks the operating partner took 6; recommendations from his pack the fund implemented 3; months those recommendations sat unimplemented 11; stake the fund bought 30 per cent; weeks his own cost programme took 14; weeks of due diligence he was then staffed on 3; years in consulting 4; clients served nine)
